LIVE from Auburn's Memorial City Hall, it's City Council

Live-Streaming of Auburn City Council Meetings Begins June 5, 2014

Government transparency takes a step forward this week in the City of Auburn as the first City Council meeting will be live-streamed through the City's website this Thursday, June 5th beginning at 6 p.m.

The live video will play on any smartphone, tablet, laptop computer, or desktop computer.

The live-stream video player is now built into the City website on a local government access channel that the City has named Channel-A. Channel-A may be found at the following link:

www.AuburnNY.gov/Channel-A

This marks the beginning of the new live-streaming service for the City of Auburn. Residents will be able to tune into the City website every Thursday evening to view their local government in action.
